

You are in a high risk area.

Police might use a hand held scanner (wand) to check you if you have a weapon.

The hand held scanner is safe, and it looks for metal.

If the police ask you to stop for a scan and you say no you may be breaking the law.

If the police find you carrying a weapon they can take it away and you might face penalties such as a fine or time in prison.

Choose life.
Not a knife.

View high risk area maps

